SALON PHOTOGRAPHIQUE by Collection Regard

SALON PHOTOGRAPHIQUE is a photographic exhibition on the theme of BERLIN in the shape of a curiosity cabinet curated by Antonio Panetta. The set up is the one of a living room, according to the style of the Collection Regard located in the district of Berlin-Mitte. Some photographers presented at the Collection Regard since 2011 will be presented : Hein Gorny, Manfred Paul and Roselyne Titaud. The work of other photographers will be viewable in form of portfolios and publications, including Hans Martin Sewcz, Ulrich Wüst, Peter Thomann, Siebrand Rehberg and Rainer König.

COLLECTION REGARD

As its French name « Regard » suggests, the collection hopes to inspire a deeper gaze towards that which is being viewed. The collection also aims to further the discovery and re-discovery of formerly renowned photographers and photo artists who have since faded from memory. Marc Barbey collects photography since 2005 and his Collection Regard contains works from the beginning of photography until the 90s with mostly German positions and a special focus on the theme of Berlin.

Since 2011, the Regard Collection organizes curated exhibitions accompanied with publications and Salons Photographiques to allow photographers, institutions, curators, collectors and enthusiasts to interact. The exhibitions produced are lent to other institutions exhibiting photography. The activities of the Collection Regard clearly fall between those of a museum and a gallery. The photographer Hein Gorny (1904-1967) takes a special place in the collection, Marc Barbey being the administrator of his oeuvre.
